TITOLO: Sprint dell'Emilia-Romagna sullo smart working, via a due progetti: equipaggiati con zainetto, pc portatile e smartphone aziendale, i lavoratori agili hanno sottoscritto un accordo individuale in cui sono indicati i compiti da svolgere

IMMAGINE (O EQUIVALENTE): <https://rulingcompanies.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/11/Smartwork.jpg>

TESTO:

Nel mese di giugno sono stati avviati i progetti di sperimentazione di smart working (lavoro agile) della Regione Emilia-Romagna e di ASP Città di Bologna nell'ambito della Direttiva Madia del 2017, che prevede un'ampia flessibilità di orari e meno vincoli di presenza nella sede di lavoro facendo leva su una maggiore autonomia e responsabilizzazione dei lavoratori per il raggiungimento dei risultati prefissati. Il progetto della Regione – primo in Italia – messo a punto da un team dedicato, composto anche da rappresentanti dei sindacati, coinvolge per un periodo di 6 mesi un centinaio di dipendenti, individuati dai responsabili delle strutture, e prevede una costante attività di monitoraggio e supporto. Equipaggiati con zainetto, pc portatile e smartphone aziendale per essere sempre on-line, i lavoratori agili prima di prendere servizio nel nuovo ruolo hanno sottoscritto un accordo individuale in cui sono indicati i compiti da svolgere.

Nelle giornate di lavoro agile è prevista l'esenzione dalla timbratura del cartellino con lo svolgimento dell'attività lavorativa nella fascia oraria tra le 7:30 e le 19:30, segnalando la presenza in servizio tramite un'applicazione ad hoc e diritto alla disconnessione fuori dall'orario di lavoro, nelle giornate di sabato, domenica e festivi.

WHY EVERY CEO SHOULD HAVE A SOCIAL MEDIA PRESENCE

CEOs and the Use of Social Media

While participation is still low, it is becoming increasingly more important and more common for CEOs to step out from behind the desk and into the digital spotlights of social media. A truly social CEO is still rare, but there are a few leaders out there demonstrating what it looks like and how it benefits their personal and professional brands.

How the World's Top CEOs Use Social Media

Thought leadership gets a lot of flak in marketing circles. Some of it is fair. "Thought leadership" is jargon for something companies have done forever: trying to position their executives as influential leaders. But just because it's a new way to refer to an old technique doesn't mean it's not effective. New technology has just changed how it's done.

That's why, much to some people's chagrin, the term just won't go away. Thought leadership has fundamentally changed in the age of smartphones and social media. It's become more effective thanks to the low cost of digital distribution and the ability for individuals to cultivate their own followings. While building up an executive as a thought leader once required an immense PR effort, professionals with loyal followings and powerful influence are now a dime a dozen.

CEOs, in particular, have become social media rockstars. Elon Musk, Marc Benioff, and Mark Zuckerberg are easy examples. But not every CEO uses social media. According to new research from CEO.com and Domo, 60 percent of Fortune 500 CEOs have no social media presence whatsoever.
